File Unlock Full Version

===== File Unlock is a file manager plugin (Windows only). It can be used both to view the list of programs that have been previously opened a file (file handle), the list of files used by other applications and in Windows Explorer to force close the file. The plugin is very simple to use. It is a far manager plugin, just drag&drop it to your far apps tree bar, and press "File Unlock" button to view the list of files. It has the following features: - Search by type - view a list of file types (EXE, DLL, OLE, SCR, etc.) that have been previously opened a file. - List file paths - view a list of files used by other applications. - Disable a file - disable the file in other applications. - View file path - open the file in other applications. - Recursive search - search for the file in all subdirectories. - Force file close - close the file in other applications. - Unlocked file - record the file in your root folder and reverse the force close. - Output window - output a message in the output window. - Download and install the plugin: - For Windows: Click "here" or "here" - For Linux: Click "here" Known issues:

===== Below is an incomplete list of "known issues" with this plugin and may change during the development process. - A registry key called "HKEY_CURRENT_USER\Software\FileUnlock" is required to work properly. Check it in the registry with Regedit or another registry editor. - No icon! Download the previous version of the plugin which has an icon. - You can use the "File Unlock" button also to remove the search in other programs. If you want to close the files using the button, it should remove the file from the list. 2019-10-30 ===== - Added support for "File Unlock v2". This plugin allows to force close the files and directories (including a recursive search mode). Try to use it and report bugs if you find any. - Added "File Unlock Options" button in the "File Unlock" menu. This will allow you to view the list of options available. - Added "Hide on Lock" option to the "File Unlock Options" button. Hide the list of programs when the file is locked. b7e8fdf5c8
